My Dishwasher Theology Jun 26 2022 If you want to get to the core questions of Christian faith with members of a Christian faith community, you have to wash the dishes with them after the Sunday coffee hour. That is where the big questions are asked and discussed. That is where the learning happens and the deep spiritual experiences can form disciples. This book tries to provide ministers, seminarians, or interested Christians with food for thought for some of the typical questions you would encounter when washing the dishes with parishioners. “Do you believe in the Bible?” “Are not all religions the same?” “What about heaven and hell?” This book tries not to give finished answers but intends to help the reader to develop an answer themselves. Answers to Common Questions About the Bible Aug 17 2021 The Bible is a ready resource for guidance on topics and questions that often perplex believer and curious nonbeliever alike. But where do you begin to look for the answers? In fact, how do we know for sure that we can even trust the Bible to provide the answers being sought? Answers to Questions About the Bible provides answers to the origins and authority of the Bible, along with answers to such questions as: • Who wrote the Bible, and when? • How reliable is the Bible when it comes to history, science, ethics, or other topics? • How do we know that the Bible we have today is the original Word of God? • Why were some books included in the Bible and others left out? Written in question-and-answer format for easy access, these quick reference guides provide succinct summaries of authoritative information so readers can be confident of what they read and be prepared to discuss these topics with family, friends, or neighbors accurately.

Life-Changing Questions Oct 19 2021 Who is not bewildered anymore? When have we faced a more confusing fog of uncertainty? Who is not asking basic questions? "Who am I? Why am I here? How do I fit into life? What's ahead for our nation and world? For our children? How can we be sure of our family's survival? What's beyond this life for me? How can I get through life's labyrinth? Is there any way out of this hole I'm in? Surely, I haven't gone too far astray for God to intervene in my dilemma! "Is there a God who really cares about me? If so, which God of which world religion? How is the God of Christianity different from any other? What has He done for us beyond any other? Can I know Him personally? Will He intervene in my crisis?" When have we been getting more inadequate or wrong answers? Even from too many of our schools, pulpits, and homes? Who is not starving for definite answers? This book provides you with God's answers. Here is biblical insight into what lies ahead for you, your family, America, and our human race. It's about the destiny-determining decisions you and I face. You see, our future is contingent upon how soon we respond to God's readiness and power to intervene. Yet, never will God force His way upon us. We must invite Him in. A Faith Encompassing All Creation Jan 22 2022 Even as evidence accumulates that humans have significantly contributed to global climate change, many Christians have questions about what it means to care for creation. Some question whether focusing on creation care takes away from a person's spirituality or from caring for other humans. Others wonder to what extent we can live peaceably with nonhuman creation. Still others wonder whether we should be better stewards of the environment and whether developing better technology might save us from the current crisis. The diverse authors of this volume address these questions in an accessible way. The Resurrection and You Nov 27 2019 In this book, MacDonald argues that the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead is not only true, but transformative. exclude God? If we are Christians, can we support stem-cell research and cloning? Can science help us understand the afterlife? Does science negate or support prayer? What is the difference between faith and reason? Do they exclude or complement one another? As Paul Stroble addresses these questions and others, he helps us examine different possible ways that religion and science relate to each other and ways that science and religion provide meaning and value in our lives. PAUL STROBLE is an elder of the Illinois Great Rivers Conference of The United Methodist Church. He has served both as parish pastor and college instructor and currently teaches at the University of Akron, where he earned an Excellence in Teaching award. He is a long-time writer-researcher for the United Methodist curriculum FaithLink and author of numerous articles and curricular materials. Among his eleven books are Paul and the Galatians and What Do Other Faiths Believe? He is married to Dr. Beth Stroble, and they have a daughter, Emily. The FaithQuestions study series is designed to meet the needs of people who have questions about the Christian faith and who desire a deeper engagement with scripture and with discipleship as they explore studies of issues in theology, ethics, missions, Bible interpretation, and church history. It seeks to equip a new generation of church leaders to appreciate the eternal message of the gospel and to develop the skills to articulate its relevance in our contemporary context. acknowledge that it is, in fact, a religious practice under the guise of medical science: So common is the use of psychotherapy among Christians today that many pastors themselves are either licensed therapists or are the greatest source of referrals to professional counselors. In addition, the study of psychology has become the number two career choice for all college students; in fact, the popularity of this "science of the soul" is even greater among those enrolled in Christian colleges, universities, and seminaries from coast to coast. Some of the critical questions and crucial answers this book explores include:*

From what ancient philosophical roots does psychology originate, and what are its modern fruits?*

Is psychology truly a "scientific" means by which the spiritual issues of mankind may be addressed?*

What does God's Word prescribe as a remedy for the social ills of our culture, and is that alone sufficient for the Body of Christ?*

Can Christians effectively minister using Scripture and prayer by power of the Holy Spirit, or is professional training required?*

Is it possible for believers in Christ to "eat the fish and spit out the bones" with regard to psychology's foundation in secular humanism?*

Can the mystic and occultic methodologies employed by secular psychotherapists be "sanctified" for practice by Christian counselors?*

Does the wisdom of psychology point to the narrow way of biblical Christianity, or toward the broad path that leads to destruction?*

What understanding of "Self" can psychology bring to light that Scripture cannot?*

The purpose of this book is not to attack or condemn evangelicals who are either practicing psychotherapists or those who have been helped by what is commonly called "Christian Psychology." Rather, this volume acknowledges the value of believers bearing one another's burdens through prayer, fellowship, and the Word of God.

listening? If God is sovereign and in control, why should I bother praying? Can my will override His will? Public interest in spiritual things is at an all-time high, and one of the most often discussed topics is prayer. Yet there are vexing questions related to our communication with God, and much misinformation is circulated about prayer—even among Christians. Many struggle with hard questions. In fact, there seem to be as many negative attitudes and questions about prayer as there are positive things said about it. 10 Questions About Prayer

Every Christian Must Answer does what other books do not: explore the link between Christian apologetics and prayer. Elmer Towns and Alex McFarland— each with extensive pastoral and academic experience—respond to common objections and questions about prayer, offering biblically informed, well-reasoned answers. This resource will encourage Christian readers in their faith and provide them with help when encountering Christianity's critics. To those who are skeptical about prayer, it offers respectful and carefully reasoned rebuttals to their assumptions.

Christianity and World

Religions Dec 09 2020 Why has the reality of other religions become a big problem for Christianity? In the past, Christianity has been able to largely ignore other religions but in recent decades, not just the reality, but the vitality of other religions has become a challenge. This accessible book tackles a number of questions arising from these changes: is belonging to one religion rather than another merely a matter of cultural preference?; is salvation the same among all religions?; and what can be learned from other religions? Considering wider issues of how modernity has defined "religion," Gavin D'Costa provides a substantial critique of secular ways of controlling religions, and shows how Christianity is very well suited to deal with religious plurality at the doctrinal and social level. The book makes a decisive contribution to debates about the clash between Islam and the West, arguing that the major threat to religious freedoms come from secularism, and that Islam and Christianity both have the resources to develop a vibrant and pluralist "public square" informed by intellectual debate. By engaging with the core questions and suggesting a pathway through the various answers that have been proposed in recent years, this is an ideal introduction to the field, and one which will help
